American Airlines Offers Customers More Choices to New Destinations

American Airlines announced today that it will launch service to markets in Europe, Asia and Latin America, as well as additional service from Dallas/Fort Worth and Chicago.

American will begin the following international services in 2013:

- Dusseldorf, Germany – Chicago O'Hare
- Dublin, Ireland – New York JFK
- Dallas/Fort Worth – Seoul, South Korea
- Dallas/Fort Worth – Lima, Peru

These new services enhance American's network footprint and will provide more access and choice for customers in key international markets. American will also add domestic service to match customer demand through its Dallas/Fort Worth and Chicago hubs. Customers can begin booking travel for all these routes beginning November 5, 2012.

The strengthening of American's global network is just another example of the company's progress towards its business plan, which includes focusing its hubs in the most important international and domestic cities, enhancing relationships with the best international alliance partners and creating a pipeline of industry-leading products and services, including a significant renewal and transformation of an aircraft fleet that American expects to be the youngest and most fuel-efficient among its U.S. airline peers by 2017.

More Service from Europe

Beginning April 12, 2013, American will add service between Dusseldorf, Germany and Chicago O'Hare. American will codeshare with oneworld[®] alliance partner, airberlin, further reinforcing an already strong relationship and allowing customers to fly not only from Dusseldorf, but also from cities such as Moscow, Tel Aviv, and Nice through airberlin's extensive network. This route will also operate as part of the enhanced relationship with British Airways and Iberia.

In addition, American will add new service between Dublin, Ireland and New York JFK, beginning June 13, 2013. This new flight will be operated in conjunction with American's Atlantic joint business partners British Airways and Iberia. From New York JFK, American flies nonstop to nearly 50 cities throughout North America, South America, Asia and Europe, with nearly 90 daily departures.

New Service to Asia

From its largest hub at Dallas/Fort Worth, American will launch its first ever service to Seoul, South Korea on May 9, 2013. As one of the top 10 premium markets in the world, the new service to Seoul reinforces American's commitment to customers and the Asia-Pacific region. The new service will be operated as a part of American's joint business agreement with Japan Airlines and will provide convenient access for customers travelling from South Korea to connect to more than 200 flights from Dallas/Fort Worth to cities in the United States and Latin America.

Increased Service to Latin America

Beginning April 2, 2013, American will add service between Dallas/Fort Worth and Lima, Peru. American provides more service than any other airline between North America and Latin America with more than 900 weekly flights to 49 destinations. With the addition of Dallas/Fort Worth to Lima, customers can access 30 destinations to Central America, Mexico, and South America from the Dallas/Fort Worth hub.

In addition, this added service continues to enhance American's relationship with oneworld partner, LAN, including reciprocal frequent flyer benefits for AAdvantage[®] and LANPASS members, and reinforces American's commitment to the Peruvian market by providing seamless connections to multiple destinations including the Dallas/Fort Worth to Tokyo nonstop.

New Domestic Cities from Dallas/Fort Worth and Chicago:

On February 14, 2013, American will also add new domestic service, through its regional affiliates American Eagle and ExpressJet, from Dallas/Fort Worth to the following cities: Beaumont/Port Arthur, Texas, Columbia, Missouri and Fargo, North Dakota as well as new Chicago O'Hare to Columbia, Missouri service.

Dallas/Fort Worth is the largest of American's five domestic hubs offering more than 740 departures to nearly 170 cities in Asia, Europe, North America and South America.
